household. Work with the school district, local bicycle groups, and interested parents to expand and improve the Safe Routes to School program. Appoint or hire a dedicated Safe Routes to School Coordinator to lead these efforts.

» Increase the number of local League Cycling Instructors (LCIs) in your community, either by hosting an LCI seminar or sponsoring a City staffer or local bike advocate to attend an existing seminar elsewhere. Having several active instructors in the area will enable you to expand cycling education for youth and adults, recruit more knowledgeable cycling ambassadors, deliver Bicycle Friendly Driver education to motorists, and have experts available to assist in encouragement programs. » Work with local employers to create a Bike to Work Day event. Bike to Work Day often involves a central “pit stop” station with food, community groups, and elected officials promoting and helping people to choose to bike to work.

» Encourage more local businesses, agencies, and organizations to promote cycling to their employees and customers throughout the year through the Bicycle Friendly Business (BFB) program. City Hall could apply to the BFB program as an employer to lead by example among other local employers.

» Increase the amount of staff time spent on improving conditions for people who bike and walk, either by creating a new dedicated position or expanding the responsibilities of current staff. Ensure that this position is well supported with training and professional development opportunities to stay up-to-speed on the latest best practices and safety guidelines for bicycle planning, outreach, and infrastructure.

» Adopt a target level of bicycle use (percent of trips) to be achieved within a specific timeframe.

Observational counts and surveys should supplement automated data in order to continue to collect demographic information and examine social equity goals.
