

CMU Cycling Class #2: Winter Riding Tips

Monday, November 17, 6-7 p.m.

This is a one-hour clinic about what to wear and how to set up your bike for safer, more comfortable winter riding.

What To Wear: We'll look at some good clothing choices, learn how to combine layers for different weather, and discuss solutions for looking professional and getting by on a lean budget.

Winterize Your Ride: What you can do to make your bike more of an all-weather machine.

Open to all Carnegie Mellon students, faculty and staff.

Class size is limited, so please, only sign up if you are sure you will attend. There will be a waiting list. There will also be more cycling classes such as this offered in the future.

Sign up here: wintercyclingclass.eventbrite.com

Questions? Email Karen Brooks at kbr00ks@andrew.cmu.edu.

Brought to you by the CMU Bike Advisory Committee

